

Tabi Kelvin Ayomide

UI/UX DESIGNER & FRONTEND DEVELOPER

Designer and developer based in Lagos, Nigeria. I design interfaces and build them into working products — covering everything from the first wireframe to a live, deployed site. My background spans brand identity, e-commerce, and full-stack web applications. I care about the craft at every stage, not just the parts that are easy to show off.

SELECTED WORK

ZTO Marketing Agency

2024 – Present

UI/UX Design · Full-Stack Development · ztoagency.vercel.app

- Designed the complete UI in Figma and built the full product end-to-end using React, Node.js, and Supabase.
- Built a client-facing portal where customers log in, track live campaign progress, and communicate directly with the team.
- Integrated Paystack payments and Resend email notifications; deployed on Vercel and Railway with full environment and CORS configuration.

Baltimore Afro Food Festival

2024

Brand Identity · UI/UX Design · Web Development · baltimoreafrofoodfestival.com

- Designed the full visual identity for a cultural food festival celebrating African cuisine in Baltimore, USA.
- Built and deployed the festival website with a mobile-first, responsive design that matched the energy and culture of the event.
- Delivered the complete project from brief to live site, including typography, colour system, and layout.

Lagos in Yankee

2024

Brand Identity · UI/UX Design · Web Development · lagosinyankee.com

- Designed and built a culture and lifestyle platform aimed at Nigerians in the diaspora.
- Developed the complete visual identity and translated it into a working website using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript.
- Centred the design around storytelling and cultural connection — the brief shaped every visual decision.

NOTE

My background is in political science, which trained me to think about systems, people, and how decisions affect outcomes — not entirely different from how I approach UX work. I moved into tech through genuine interest and have been building real products since.
